1. Policies

1.1 Purpose

Our aim is to ensure that our pupils reach their full potential in education and personal development by receiving the highest standards of teaching and care. We believe that all children and young people are entitled to an education and care that enables them to:

- Reach their potential
- Constantly strive and achieve their personal and academic goals
- Be included in all aspects of education and social activity that they chose
- Forge their own bespoke pathway for achievement
- Make a successful transition into adulthood

All children and young people should have access to high quality education and care based on a need-led assessment. Within our schools we used the 7C's strengths-based framework to assess and monitor progress in our students.

We have a range of principles that our schools apply to ensure high quality Teaching, Learning and Development.

We have an integrated therapy model called SHINE. Our SHINE (Supporting Healing in Nurturing Environments) Therapeutic Model allows us to practice using a psychologically informed and trauma responsive approach across Horizon. SHINE brings together up to date research and approaches which have been found to be essential when supporting young people who have experienced trauma and adversity.

Dyadic Developmental Psychotherapy, an evidence-based attachment-focused approach for working with young people incorporating Playfulness, Acceptance, Curiosity and Empathy (PACE), underpins our SHINE model. In addition, we also draw from current neuropsychological evidence, notably the work of Bruce Perry, Daniel Siegel and Bessel van der Kolk.

At Horizon we provide opportunities which enable young people and colleagues to achieve their full potential. Therapeutic and compassionate care is at the heart of our practice. Our SHINE Therapeutic Model allows us to deliver attachment-aware and trauma-informed education, care and support across our services.

We believe that everyone deserves their opportunity to shine.

Our schools provide provision for a range of needs, including but not exclusive to:

- Communication and interaction, for example, autistic spectrum disorder, Asperger's Syndrome, speech, and language difficulties
- Cognition and learning, for example, dyslexia, dyspraxia (See appendix 1 for Neurodiversity process)

- Social, emotional, and mental health difficulties, for example, attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD)
- Moderate learning difficulties
- Sensory Processing Needs

At the point of referral, we collaborate with our Business Development team to identify academic and therapeutic needs. The EHCP and accompanying paperwork are reviewed and we liaise with other professionals, as well as meeting with the young person and their family, both on a school visit and subsequent home visit.

During the young person's initial 12 weeks at the school there will be a 7C's portfolio and action plan completed in collaboration with the young person as well as baseline assessments, which could include numeracy, literacy and wider curriculum needs. They will also have therapeutic screening assessments to capture any needs not identified within the EHCP (See assessment process in Appendix 2). Feedback on all these assessments will be provided to the young person, parent/carer and local authority.

As therapeutic support is integrated into our schools if a young person is receiving any therapeutic support, training is given, or strategies are provided to make sure the young person is supported throughout the school day.

Every year there is an annual review held, to which parents/carers, SEND Officer and any other key professionals are invited. At this annual review, the progress of the young person is discussed as well as any revisions to EHCP due to progress and any areas requiring increased support.

We place a great deal of importance on communicating effectively with all parents and carers therefore, we have dedicated staff to help ensure excellent standards of communication with parents. All parents will receive regular phone calls or emails home or will use a home/school diary, depending on which format best suits the needs of the parents. We ensure that communication includes lots of positives and is not just done if there has been a difficult day. We ensure that information and feedback is shared formally with parents/carers at regular intervals by holding parent's evenings three times a year. We provide termly reports on student progress. Parents may also be invited to school for special assemblies, celebrations, or events. Parents are always welcome to ring in to speak to the headteacher or to arrange a meeting to come into the school.

In addition, our Senior Leadership Teams conduct learning walks throughout to monitor our teachers and teaching practices to ensure that we are providing the pupils with the best education we can.

The pastoral team is responsible for delivering assistance to students and their families, participating in supplementary meetings as required. Additionally, they serve as the primary contact for addressing and supporting young individuals experiencing anxiety and mental health challenges.
